1. Introduction

The results from our latest Gallup 'tracking' study conducted from 21st to 26th July found a sharp fall in the level of Conservative support - down from 44% (14/19 July) to 39% in the latest study. It is too early to say whether this movement represents the start of a major fall in support for the Conservative Party. The current level of support compares with 25½% of the electorate who claimed they would vote Conservative in early January 1982. Labour support has increased by 3 percentage points from 27½% (14/19 July) to 30½% in the latest study. There support is now almost at the same level it reached in early January 1982. Liberal support increased slightly and Social Democrat support remained almost unchanged in the latest study. The combined level of Liberal and Social Democrat support in the latest study of 27½% compares with 42% at the start of the year.
