2nd January 1983.

Dear Mr. Hares,

You are most kind and generous to give us a brace of pheasants for Christmas. It is a luxury bird for eating on special occasions and we do just that. A warm thankyou from us all.

After a momentous and desperately busy year we are especially grateful to have Chequers. It is a marvellous retreat and a wonderful place to discuss and decide on matters of state. Its walls could tell us so many things that have happened here. This year we have added a little to that history because we took some of the Falklands decisions here.

We look forward to 1983 - a quieter year I hope!

Every good wish

Yours sincerely

Raymond Stretton
