Dear Margaret,

I am so very sorry you are having this trouble with your eye, and hope very much that it will be put right very quickly and that you won't suffer too much discomfort.

In the meantime, if there is anything at all I can do, I'd be so happy to. Nigel is away all next week, in the constituency, so the children and I will be here all alone and very quiet, and I would be absolutely delighted if there were any little thing I could help over. Do please say if there is.

Yours Ever,

Therese
