Dear Mr. Baldwin,

A note to say how stimulating and enjoyable we found the visit to your laboratory yesterday.

The presentation was superb - even we could understand some of it. Your whole team took an immense amount of trouble - we do appreciate it.

We shall await every new development with heightened interest.

and hope to come again one day.

Yours sincerely
Margaret Thatcher

Dear Dr. Brenner,

We thoroughly enjoyed every moment of our visit to your laboratories yesterday. Each and every one of your team did a marvellous presentation and didn't wait at all when we asked questions to enlarge our own understanding. To me it was exciting and stimulating - but there is no much still to do. I was so very pleased you were able to be there - but - I know the tremendous will-power that was required

I hope you have had no ill-effects.

For a few moments I almost felt homesick when I enter such a city, but soon comfort myself that I have quite an interesting job too!

Many congratulations and many thanks to you all.

Yours sincerely
Margaret Shalita

Dear Robert,

A very warm thank you for a delightful luncheon party yesterday. Your whole family went to a lot of trouble - but the result was worth it - a really happy occasion.

I was very pleased to see your wonderful helpers. Their loyalty and enthusiasm is an inspiration.

And we loved your house.

Yours ever
Harold
