1. Introduction

The interviewing for our latest 'tracking' study was conducted by Gallup from 3rd to 10th November and they interviewed almost 1,000 electors throughout Great Britain. This latest study does not wholly confirm the results of the previous Gallup tracking study (conducted 27th October/1st November) which found a 7½% jump in Conservative support - up from 40½% to 48%. In this latest study Conservative support dropped back to 44% - apart from the previous study the highest level of support since late August. The latest study found a slight improvement in Labour support - up to 33% compared to 31% in the previous study. Liberal and Social Democratic support remained almost unchanged at 9% and 12% respectively.

Details of the trend of support for the main parties in our weekly tracking studies since the start of the year are shown in the table overleaf. It is worth noting that the next survey will be published in the Daily Telegraph on 18th November.
